

ConAgra Names New Lamb Weston President

DELHI, La. (AP) — Lamb Weston, the ConAgra-owned company that operates a sweet potato processing plant near Delhi, will have a new boss in February.

ConAgra Foods has announced Greg Schlafer will join the company on Feb. 25 as president of its Lamb Weston frozen potato business.

Schlafer will have specific responsibility for running Lamb Weston's global business, which ConAgra said serves more than 2,500 restaurant, food service and retail customers in 120 countries.

The News-Star [1] reports Lamb Weston employs 275 workers at its $156 million Delhi sweet potato plant.

In December, ConAgra committed to a $55 million capital expansion of its existing plant that's expected to create 225 additional jobs by the end of 2015.

Source URL (retrieved on 03/06/2015 - 4:40pm):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2013/01/conagra-names-new-lamb-weston-president>

Links:

[1] <http://tnsne.ws/VUGu6G>