

ConAgra Recalls Healthy Choice Soup

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Nebraska-based food company is recalling soup products because the labels weren't correctly marked.

ConAgra Foods, based in Omaha, on Friday said it is recalling Healthy Choice Chicken with Rice soup which was sold in microwave bowls.

The state of Alaska says in a release that the labels don't say that the product contains two known allergens, milk and wheat.

Even though the product has been sold in Alaska stores, the state Department of Environmental Conservation says there's been no reports of illness.

The product in question has an establishment number of "P-770," and has a best-by-date of JUN092015 stamped on the bottom of the bowls.

Source URL (retrieved on 03/06/2015 - 3:18pm):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/02/conagra-recalls-healthy-choice-soup>