

Photos of the Day: 'Dumb Starbucks' Draws Buzz

Canadian comedian Nathan Fielder of the Comedy Central show "Nathan For You" comes forward as the brainchild of "Dumb Starbucks," a parody store that resembles a Starbucks with a green awning and mermaid logo, but with the word "Dumb" attached above the Starbucks sign. Starbucks Coffee spokeswoman Laurel Harper says the store is not affiliated with Starbucks and, despite the humor, the store cannot use the Starbucks name. (AP Photo/Nick Ut)

Read: Comedian Brewed Up 'Dumb Starbucks' Idea [1]

Photos of the Day: 'Dumb Starbucks' Draws Buzz

Published on Food Manufacturing (<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com>)

Anthony Solis, left, and Tony Gonzalez prepare their coffee at the Dumb Starbucks coffee shop in Los Angeles Monday, Feb. 10, 2014. (AP Photo/Damian Dovarganes)

Photos of the Day: 'Dumb Starbucks' Draws Buzz

Published on Food Manufacturing (<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com>)

Featured coffee drinks sizes, Dumb Venti, Dumb Grande, and Dumb Tall are displayed inside the Dumb Starbucks in Los Angeles, Monday, Feb. 10, 2014. The mysterious shop named "Dumb Starbucks" is serving coffee in Los Angeles after drawing weekend crowds that waited in a line two blocks long. The line Monday was far shorter, however. (AP Photo/Damian Dovarganes)

Source URL (retrieved on 01/30/2015 - 4:37pm):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/02/photos-day-dumb-starbucks-draws-buzz>

Links:

[1] <http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/02/comedian-brewed-%E2%80%98dumb-starbucks%E2%80%99-idea>