

Photos of the Day: Calif. Citrus Threatened by Bad Weather

Mandarins drive Citrus Category Growth

Nisben Perishables Group - $2 who ending 12.28.13

Freezing temperatures in December wiped out a quarter of California's mandarin, navel oranges and lemons, according to industry group California Citrus Mutual. (Photo: PRNewswire)

Read: Calif. Citrus Crop Impacted by Deep Freeze, Drought [1]

Photos of the Day: Calif. Citrus Threatened by Bad Weather

Published on Food Manufacturing (<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com>)

---

The California mandarin category grew by 12 percent through Dec. 28, 2013, according to Nielsen Perishables Group. Mandarins drive the $2.5 billion citrus category. (Photo: PRNewswire)

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 3:04am):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/03/photos-day-calif-citrus-threatened-bad-weather>

Links:

[1] <http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/03/calif-citrus-crop-impacted-deep-freeze-drought>