

Photo of the Day: Noma Regains World's Best Restaurant Title

Noma's snack inside a flower vase.

The two-Michelin-starred restaurant Noma has regained the title World's Best Restaurant [1] at London's Guildhall, where the World's 50 Best Restaurants Awards have been presented. Last year's winner, Spain's El Celler de Can Roca, was bumped to second place and the Italian Osteria Francescana has been chosen the third best restaurant.

The prestigious San Pellegrino World's 50 Best Restaurants Awards are decided by over 900 chefs, gourmands and food writers around the world who vote each year. Part of its influence is financial; 2013's winner received over 121,000 reservations in the last year. (Photo: PRNewswire)

Source URL (retrieved on 02/01/2015 - 3:42am):

Photo of the Day: Noma Regains World's Best Restaurant Title

Published on Food Manufacturing (<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com>)

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/news/2014/04/photo-day-noma-regains-worlds-best-restaurant-title>

Links:

[1] <http://time.com/80073/noma-best-restaurant-2014/>