

Urban Tours Offer Fun for Foodies

The GO Group, LLC

CHICAGO (PRNewswire) — Museums, parks, shopping venues and sports events aren't the only ways to explore a new city. Take one of these tours selected by the travel experts at The GO Group and eat your way through town:

Taco enthusiasts will enjoy the LA Cycle Taco Tour [1] in Los Angeles. During this bicycle tour, visitors will be taken to some of the city's best taco stands and trucks throughout different neighborhoods and historic sites. This tour is approximately two - three hours long and nine miles in distance. The $100 price includes bicycle, helmet, safety vest, water bottle and all the tacos you can eat during the ride.

Visitors to Boston always want to know where to get the best chowder (or chowda, if you're local!). The Yummy Walks Seafood and Chowda Tour [2] takes groups for a three-hour scenic stroll along the HarborWalk to sample variations of this iconic concoction as well as other seafood specialties. Cost is $60 per person.

Have a sweet tooth? Take the Cupcake Tour of Chicago [3] for visits to some of the best dessert boutiques in the downtown area. In the nation's capital? Take the Cupcake & Macaron Tour of DC [4] in Georgetown. Both of these walking tours offer six tastings, either on the sidewalk or within the various establishments. Cost is $50 per person and groups are limited to 20 people.

If Creole cuisine is your preference, take a tour with Doctor Gumbo [5] in New Orleans. You will visit neighborhood restaurants serving dishes that represent the area's heritage, including gumbo, poboys, muffulettas and more. Plus, your guide will discuss various restaurant family dynasties and make recommendations for places to eat and shop. The three-hour walking tour takes place in the French Quarter and costs $55 for adults, $20 for children. When possible the chefs come out to visit the groups and discuss their creations.

The GO Group serves all the airports in the cities above. For a complete list [6], visit the website at www.GoAirportShuttle.com [7]

The GO Group, LLC [8] provides both shared-ride shuttles and private cars at some 66 airports [9] in the United States, Mexico, Canada and Europe. The company serves some 13 million passengers per year.
