Cable Seal

Lindsey Jahn, Associate Editor

The Roxtec EZEntry™ seal is designed to simplify cable sealing in the equipment manufacturing industry. The product enables users to route and seal around multiple pre-terminated cables of different sizes in one single frame opening. The product is constructed of a lightweight composite material and is a single-sided application for easier installations. It is delivered as a complete kit solution, including a lightweight, non-metallic frame, an integrated compression unit and adaptable sealing modules for cables of different dimensions. It is certified for IP 66/67, UL/NEMA 4, 4x, 12, 13 protection.
