

Security Bottle Tags

The company announces the release of a new bottle tag. The new tag provides a high level of security. The company has been able to combine its customary aesthetics, but also provide the retailer with a tag that offers multiple levels of protection. This product is the newest member of the Wave product line by the company. The exclusive 4 alarm tag offers the retailer a product that alarms at 4 different triggers. The tag itself alarms, adding another layer of unmatched security. Product is easily applied, minimizing the employee hours needed for application. The slim and compact design of the tag allows the retailer to implement the tag with no disruption to their shelving layout. Product comes in a variety of sizes to fit every bottle neck design. From large brandy bottles to champagne bottles, this tag will be sure to fit. Company offers a smaller profile tag for fine wines, with a larger tag to safely secure champagne bottles. Product won't require forced or damage to the foil wrappers on high value bottles. Tags are also available in a variety of colors.
