Clear Screen Covers

Clear, plastic screen covers provide a window for constant, visual monitoring of product in process to quickly detect screen blinding without requiring removal of the cover, machine disassembly or shutting down the operation. Ideal for use in separating pelletized food products and other dry, granular products, the product features a hinged design that retracts for easy access to quickly clear any blockages before the process can be disrupted and returns to position without any tools. The clear, plastic units also minimize the release of dust particles into the plant environment for enhanced hygiene and safety while helping to safeguard the product from contamination.
