

Farmers Get a Lesson in Produce Safety

Indiana farmers look to make a comeback after Chamberlain Farms, located in Owensville, Ind., was linked to a deadly salmonella outbreak last year. Food safety officials are hoping that new rules proposed this month requiring stricter sanitation standards for produce growers will help put farmers on the right track.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/29/2015 - 4:05pm):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/videos/2013/01/farmers-get-lesson-produce-safety>