

Death by Soda?

Published on Food Manufacturing (<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com>)

Death by Soda?

A coroner in New Zealand has named excessive consumption of Coca-Cola as a "substantial factor" contributing to the heart attack that killed 31-year-old Natasha Harris. The country's food and beverage industry association says it will not consider placing warning labels on soda containers.

Unfortunately your browser does not support IFrames.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/26/2015 - 8:11pm):

<http://www.foodmanufacturing.com/videos/2013/02/death-soda>